Lucas War Hero brings a variety of music to the listener with their crossroads approach to country music, southern rock and blues. The band's emerging success demonstrates the band member's determination to bring a rich sampling of musical genres to the audience.

The band members, all from Lexington, South Carolina have put together a rich and powerful blend of commanding vocals, amazing lead guitar, solid rhythms and beautiful harmonies that set them apart from other acts.

The Lucas War Hero band lineup includes a three piece or a full five piece show depending on the venue and request.

The Lucas War Hero band members are:

Matt Gudelock, acoustic rhythm guitar and vocals headline a "back to your roots" mixture of outlaw country music. With covers from country legends like Johnny Cash and George Jones and Matt's originals, the country audience is totally captured. Just one listen to Matt and you feel the country.

TJ Roland, acoustic rhythm guitar and vocals takes southern rock to task with polished melodies and songs you just can't get out of your head. TJ's originals reflect the struggle and obstacles to overcome life's challenges and life's unexpected journey. TJ's messages are from the heart and experience.

Adam Whitehead, lead guitar and vocals is a testament to southern blues at its best. Influenced by Hendrix, Vaughn, Haynes and Trucks, the southern rock covers along with original songs bring the raw soulful blues vocals and screaming guitar solos to the front.

Hesham Mostafa, bass guitar at its best. Melodic bass lines that are never too much and always making you want more.

Robbie Smith, drums that match any genre you want to hear. Whether it's outlaw country, southern rock or the blues, Robbie drives the band.

Lucas War Hero combines harmonies, strong musical talent and stage presence to draw the crowd in to the magic of southern music. Bringing southern rock, outlaw country and blues nightly to the stage, Lucas War Hero offers a sampling of music that reaches a wide variety of listeners.
